

Jiva Ayurveda, Faridabad recognized for Innovative Teaching Pedagogy

Jiva Ayurveda, Faridabad was awarded the National Award for its contribution to Innovative Teaching Pedagogy in Higher Education in the Institution category at the “Vishwakarma National Skill Excellence Award for Innovative Teaching Pedagogy in Higher Education” on October 5.

Chief Minister of Haryana, Minister Manohar Lal Khattar gave away the awards.

The award is institutionalized by SVSU to the participants in three categories: teachers, trainers, and institutions for adopting innovative teaching Pedagogy that focuses on developing skills like critical thinking, problem solving, communication & collaboration, digital compatibility, emotional intelligence, ethics & values among students and trainees.

On receiving recognition, Dr Partap Chauhan, Director, Jiva Ayurveda, said, “It is very fulfilling to be recognized for our efforts in the field of innovative teaching pedagogy for Ayurveda doctors. We thank Shri Vishwakarma Skill University for awarding us. This will be a new impetus for our organization to continue our success through innovation and excellence in Ayurvedic healthcare.”

Ayurveda is the world’s largest telemedicine centre that conducts 8,000 consultations every day through telephone and video, providing people cost-effective health service at their doorsteps.

Speaking on the occasion, Neerja Chauhan, Director – Learning and Development, Jiva Ayurveda, said, “The main problem which the country faces is how to provide the required experience to new BAMS graduates as there are less opportunities available for them to practice authentic Ayurveda. To overcome this problem, we developed our own pedagogical approach covering all aspects of learning in a ‘personalized’ manner through training & learning modules such as Learning Management System (LMS), Quality Audits & Development Feedback (QADF), Credit-based awards & recognitions (Karma), and Simulation-based Protocol System (SBPS).”
